

Lake Wilderness Disc Golf Course

Presented to the Parks Commission
March 23, 2016

What is disc golf?

- Similar to traditional ball golf
- Played with specially designed Frisbee-like discs
- Can be played by practically anyone

Where can a course go in Maple Valley?

- The “peninsula” site between the arboretum and the community center
- Parcel is already part of Lake Wilderness Park
- The 8.7 acre site will support a full 18 holes

The site today

The site today

The site today

Proposed layout

Rectangles represent tee pads, circles represent targets.

What work needs to be done on the site?

- Clear brush to make room for tee pads, fairways, and “greens.”
- Remove 5-10 trees from the site and trim branches of others. This count is exclusive of “significant” trees as those will be retained whenever possible.
- Remove a number of standing and fallen dead trees.
- Pour concrete tee pads.
- Install steel baskets anchored with concrete.
- Install signage denoting hole numbers, distance, par, and flight path.
- Install informational kiosk containing a course map and bulletin board.
- Install accessories like trash cans, benches, and bike racks.

Preliminary budget

Item	Cost
Targets	$5,976.00
Tee Pads	$1,830.60
Signage	$990.00
Info Kiosk	$467.50
Accessories	$680.00
Brush Clearing	$6,180.00
Total	$16,124.10

We believe this total can be met via donations, volunteer labor, and a 50% matching grant from King County Parks.

Next steps & key dates

- March 23, 2016 - Presentation to Parks Commission
- April, 2016 - Planning committee continues to meet to scope the project
- April 11, 2016 - Presentation to Maple Valley City Council
- May 1, 2016 – Apply for matching grant funding
- Spring-Fall, 2016 - Regular volunteer work parties to construct the course
- Late October, 2016 - Target course opening date

Questions?

Thank you.